CHARO Announces New Leader For Non-Profit

Los Angeles – CHARO Community Development Corporation announced the appointment of Cynthia Amador as the new President & CEO to lead CHARO, a multi-million dollar community-based economic development organization. “Cynthia brings a wealth of talent, contacts and ideas to this position,” said CHARO Board Chairman, Fernando de Nocochea.

Prior to this appointment, Amador has been with CHARO for 15 years, most recently serving as Executive Vice President responsible for contract administration, business development and new venture implementation.
